WHAT IT IS ABOUT: Getting down to the science base of the relationship between diet and nutrition-related chronic disease.

WHY: Improving diets by changing the composition of processed foods is an important instrument to help reduce the prevalence of nutrition and diet related diseases. This workshop will encourage a discussion on food reformulation with a particular focus on salt reduction, trans-fatty acids, sugar and calories intake.

This event will be an opportunity to open a debate to identify shortcomings and current challenges ahead of the Conference organized by the Netherlands EU Presidency on product improvement on 22-23 February 2016.

WHEN: 16 February from 10:00–12:00 hrs
WHERE: EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT, Room P7C050

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION: eventsweu@euro.who.int

Organised by the World Health Organization (WHO) in collaboration with the Netherlands EU Presidency and co-hosted by Mairead McGuinness, Vice-President of the European Parliament, MEP (EPP) and by Biljana Borzan MEP (S&D), the Workshop Better Food for Better Health brings together high-level policy makers, experts and stakeholders for a panel debate.

Join the conversation on Twitter using #BetterFoodforHealth